

Winter_25_Quiz_1 - Results

Attempt 1 of 1

Written Jan 14, 2025 8:06 PM - Jan 14, 2025 8:14 PM

You successfully submitted your quiz.

Attempt Score	11 / 16 - 68.75 %
Overall Grade (Highest Attempt)	11 / 16 - 68.75 %

Question 1

What is meant by a computer program?

A computer program is a form of software that exist in the higher levels of computer architecture, usually on the operating system or close to it.

The correct answer is not displayed for Written Response type questions.

Question 2

--- describes the design of a computer in terms of the basic operations it must support.

- ☐ Operating system
- ☒ ISA
- ☐ Assembly language

Question 3

A CPU has --- main part/parts ?

- ☐ 2
- ☐ 4
- ✓ ☐ 3
- ☐ 1

Question 4

A RFID is powered by a single battery.

- ☐ True
- ✓ ☐ False

Question 5

The study of how to design those parts of a computer system that are invisible to the programmers is called computer architecture.

- ✗ ☐ True
- ➡ ☐ False

Question 6

----- is volatile.

- ☐ FLASH
- ✓ ☐ RAM
- ☐ EEPROM

Question 7

What's the primary objective behind utilizing Microprogram?

The objective behind using a Microprogram is to handle the lower levels of code in the computer's architecture.

The correct answer is not displayed for Written Response type questions.

Question 8

Is assembly language a numeric language that is not human-readable (Yes/No)? Explain your answer.

Yes, assembly is writtin in 1s and 0s. Usually a language like PHP is used to write assembly as PHP is closer to human language than 0s and 1s.

The correct answer is not displayed for Written Response type questions.

▼ Hide question 8 feedback

Feedback

No, e.g. ADD AX, BX

Done